

HAVELOCK REGIONAL SERVICES. PAYROLL WITHHOLDING PROCEDURE, EXTRACT.
Fictional employer, invented for testing. This is our own procedure and it is what we operate to. It is authoritative for this exercise alongside the rules pack.

1. SCOPE. Every order that reaches a pay run gets one instruction row before the run locks, whether it arrived this fortnight or has been in force for months. An order already in force is worked again
every period, because the earnings it runs on change every period.

2. THE RULEBOOK. The rules pack, including its state provisions, is what we apply. Not a published fact sheet, not what a figure used to be, and not what we did last year. Where the rules pack and a state provision pull the same way, follow both. Where the state is narrower, the state is what we do.

3. THE PAY RUN. Ines Wrenfield, our payroll manager, submits the run. Nobody working the queue submits it and nobody working the queue marks anything as withheld. The queue produces an instruction, and the instruction is all it produces.

4. ANSWERS. An answer is owed to the issuing court or agency for every order RECEIVED
INTO THIS
QUEUE. One answer per issuing court or agency, covering all of that court's or agency's orders in the queue. An order already in force does not get a fresh answer, it was answered when it arrived.
An answer is owed WHETHER OR NOT ANY MONEY IS WITHHELD. An order we withhold nothing on still gets an answer, and the answer says so and says why.

5. SIGN-OFF. Ines signs the instruction off before the run. She gets the queue's totals, and she gets anything section 6 sends her.

6. ESCALATION. Where an order raises a question about the employee's employment, the position goes to Ines in writing before the run, with the provision it rests on. Payroll states the position.
Payroll does not take an employment action, does not recommend one, and does not tell HR what to do about one.

7. WHAT PAYROLL DOES NOT DO. Payroll does not submit the pay run, does not send an answer, and does not act on an employment question. The instruction, the totals and the drafts are the whole of it.
